

Living on 112

The Martha Stewart Living Radio Blog

Our visit to The Chocolate Show!

Posted by Katie Macpherson

National Chocolate Day may have been last week (October 28), but let's be real—here at Martha Stewart Living Radio, the celebration of chocolate never ends. I recently checked out the New York Chocolate Show and got to hang out with some of the most talented chocolatiers from around the world. Whether you were there to taste cacao nibs or see chocolate woven into fabric, this show really didn't disappoint.

These delicious Peanut Butter Bars from Jer's Handmade Chocolates in Solana Beach, CA, took first prize for chocolate candy bars at the show. Are you drooling yet?

